

Sustainability and Business

A Narrative and Annotated Bibliography

July 2009
(rev. February 2010)

Erwin A.J. Dreessen, Ph.D.

Sustainability and Business

A Narrative and Annotated Bibliography

Detailed Table of Contents

	page
Foreword	2
Summary	3
Introduction	14
Acronyms	17
Section 1 Global assessments and what they mean for business	19
1.1 UN Millennium Assessments and follow-up
1.2 One Planet Business	22
1.3 Climate change	23
1.4 Global Compact	28
1.5 SustainAbility: “Raising Our Game”	31
Sidebar 1 Defining sustainable development	33
Section 2 More sustainable business conduct – General	35
2.1 Introduction	36
2.2 General frameworks	39
2.3 Guides	41
2.3.1 Guides geared to smaller firms or businesses in general
2.3.2 Guides geared to larger businesses	45
2.4 Special Topics	49
2.4.1 Eco-efficiency
2.4.2 Supply chain management	52
2.4.3 Standards and Environmental Management Systems (EMSs)	56
2.4.3.1 Introduction
2.4.3.2 International standards	57
2.4.3.3 SME adoption of EMSs	58
2.4.3.4 Analytical studies of EMS adoption	60
2.4.3.5 Sustainable product development*	66
2.4.3.6 Industry-specific standards	67

2.4.4	Carbon pricing	67
2.4.4.1	Cap-and-trade
2.4.4.2	Voluntary off-sets	70
2.4.4.3	Carbon taxes	72
2.4.5	Sustainable consumption and production	74
Sidebar 2 Barriers encountered by SMEs against adoption of more sustainable practices		76
Section 3	More sustainable business conduct – Industry-specific analyses and solutions	79
3.1	Chemical industry
3.2	Banking	80
3.3	Bio-based products and technologies	84
3.4	Cement
3.5	Construction	85
3.6	Electricity utilities	88
3.7	Food, beverage and consumer products	90
3.8	Forest products
3.8.1	The world's forestry
3.8.2	Pulp and paper	91
3.8.3	Forestry in Canada
3.8.4	Forest product procurement	92
3.9	Information and communications technology
3.10	Insurance
3.11	Manufacturing	93
3.12	Mining	94
3.13	Mobility	95
3.14	Ports	96
3.15	Postal services
3.16	Railways
3.17	Steel
3.18	Tire industry	97
3.19	Tourism
3.20	Vinyl	98
3.21	Role of industry associations
3.22	Integration	99

Section 4	The Business Case	101
4.1	Analyses
4.2	Proving the business case	111
	Sidebar 3 The business case for ecosystems*	114
Section 5	Reporting	117
5.1.	Corporate Social Responsibility reporting
5.2	Drivers and uptake	122
5.3	Global Reporting Initiative (GRI)	129
5.4	Carbon Disclosure Project	130
5.5	Scorecards and awards	132
Section 6	Do capital markets value sustainability?	135
6.1	On relevant information	136
	6.1.1 Defining fiduciary duty
	6.1.2 The concept of materiality	137
	Sidebar 4 Information providers	141
6.2	Analyses	145
	6.2.1 Portfolio or scenario simulations
	6.2.2 Backcasting studies	148
	6.2.3 Economic and other models	154
	6.2.4 Review studies	158
	6.2.5 Sector-specific studies*	161
6.3	Sustainability indexes and funds	163
6.4	Capital market practices	166
	6.4.1 Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI)
	6.4.2 Pension fund policies; financial research	167
	6.4.3 Venture capitalists; private banking	171
	6.4.4 Against short-termism	172

Section 7	The role of government	179
7.1	Introduction and overview; government web sites
7.2	The role of government – broad strokes	183
7.2.1	The totality of the challenge and the special burden on governments
7.2.2	Issues	185
7.2.3	The Auditor General Act and the Federal Sustainable Development Act (2008)	186
7.2.4	Instruments	187
7.2.5	Involving SMEs	188
7.3	Specific topics	190
7.3.1	Regulation
7.3.2	Fiscal policy	192
7.3.3	Product and industrial policy, and sustainable consumption	194
7.3.4	Public information and education	197
7.3.5	Indicators	198
7.3.5.1	About sustainability indicators
7.3.5.2	Actual indicators	200
7.3.6	Governance	205
7.3.7	Energy policy	208
7.4	How governments can help business	210
	Epilogue	213
	Appendices	217
A -	The small business contribution to pollution
B -	Energy and SMEs	219
C -	Selling the business case: Real Options*	220
D -	Literature considered and not used*	221
	References	225
A -	Books, journal articles, reports and statements
B -	News items	257
C -	Web sites	264

List of Figures

(The Figures are inserted at the end of the document.
The page number below indicate the location of placeholders.)

Figure 1	Main Direct Drivers of Change in Biodiversity and Ecosystems	20
Figure 2	Impact of increasing greenhouse gases	23
Figure 3	Marginal cost of abatement of greenhouse gas emissions	26
Figure 4	Abatement potential by industrial sector and region	27
Figure 5	Corporate Sustainability Model	46
Figure 6	General business risks and opportunities resulting from climate change impacts	48
Figure 7	Areas for business action on adaptation	48
Figure 8	Policy pathway for GHG reductions in commercial buildings	85
Figure 9	US pulp & paper companies' aggregate financial exposure to environmental issues	147
Figure 10	Indicators: The Drivers-Pressures-State-Impact-Responses Framework	199
Figure 11	Advantages, risks and common success factors for intersectoral partnerships	206

* Bibliography only