

Subject: <spamFilter 0.5 yellow> Feedback about Your Book!
From: Obooko <mailroom@obooko.com>
Date: 2019-09-12, 5:29 p.m.
To: John C <jn.rq9z@ncf.ca>

Feedback about Your Book

This message was sent to you via the Author Feedback form on OBOOKO. At this stage the sender does not know your email address.

The feedback form must be used only to send you a message about your book. We do not tolerate use of the form for any other purpose. Should the sender send spam, solicit information of any kind, or make offensive comments, please report the member by forwarding a copy of this message to librarian@obooko.com

Book Title: Dodging the Potholes

Sender's Name: John

Sender's Email: ajsoeberg@hotmail.co.nz

Feedback Message: I have just finished reading Thursday Afternoon and Dodging the Potholes and have thoroughly enjoyed both of them, as much as many, if not most other books I have read in the past. I lived through those times and, although a little younger than Martin, I still remember those times albeit from a great distance. Your characters are very real and believable, and what is more, very likeable. I was a little put off at the start of the second book by your use of successive sections with first person narratives. I haven't encountered that before, but quickly saw the advantage of describing each person's thoughts as well as actions. Very well done. I was also somewhat surprised by the by amount of intimate detail you included. In another book, in another setting, in another set of characters or perhaps author, it could well have been porn, but I wasn't left with that impression at all. It was so natural and so well included in the narrative, and with such pleasant people, that it would be difficult I think, to take offence. So, very well done, and very many thanks. I am now looking forward to the next book, having been a little disappointed at the sudden ending of this one.